

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a process for preparation of semi-conducting polymer film containing beta crystalline phase of polyvinylidene fluoride which have a large number of application in piezoelectric devices viz. electro-mechanical sensors, tactile sensors for robotics, touch sensitive switches etc, which can be made at low temperatures and at low electric fields and having low resistivity / semi-conducting range.